"Nancy Bombarded"—too bad to hit a lady.

It isn't for love of Michaelis that the German people are suffering.

Germany's act in disabling that American torpedo boat destroyer ought to be offset by a billion bonds at least.

There are only eight more buying days for the Liberty bonds, the best security you can purchase. Don't delay.

Mr. Peters might have had a better chance to be mayor of Boston if he hadn't appeared in the papers in a silk hat.

Senator La Follette is snapping his finger in the face of the Senate and, virtually, in the face of the American people.

Instead of causing food prices to drop, we are now informed, Hoover has a fight on to prevent the prices from going higher. It is hard to buck the law of demand and supply.

The wealth of the United States is estimated at $225,000,000,000. We should be willing to put five billions of that into the work of whipping the kaiser and his murderous band.

After reading Congressman Porter H. Dale's announcement that he was going to Europe, one is forced to admit that Congressman Dale is a master hand at circumlocution if not of circumnavigation.

Vermont's quota in the United States navy was 400 men. We have the positive information from the officer in charge of the recruiting that there were 400 enlistments up to Sept. 30, last. Possibly the Springfield (Mass.) Republican would be interested in that information.

That threatened shortage of white sugar should spur Vermont farmers on to renewed efforts next spring to counteract the effect of a recurrence of the shortage. They can do much to make their own supply of sweets adequate while at the same time they can be making up for a part of the shortage elsewhere. Maple sugar is likely to be a valuable commodity next year.

"More bonds and less blood" is the slogan which has been taken up by New York business interests in the plan to hasten the sale of the Liberty loan. Translated, the slogan means that the more money the people of the United States loan their government in the furtherance of the war aims the less American lives will be sacrificed to gain the same ends. What are dollars and cents to the government of the United States as compared with good American blood? The richest nation in the world can afford to spend dollars and cents to rid the world of a real peril but it cannot afford to spend blood. Therefore, present your dollars for the government to use, being assured of the return of the dollars at a certain time.

Secretary of War Baker's weekly reports on the status of the war are interesting reading, perhaps, but they do not carry conviction as to the reliability of the statements contained therein because they are more or less superficial in their handling of the situation on the actual fighting fronts, as they must be since they arise largely from long-distance information. To write of the war one must be in the thick of the war itself. Cooped up in an office 3,000 miles and more from the scene of the nearest fighting no one can give an accurate portrayal of the progress of the events except in their superficial aspects. Therefore, the most that can be said about Secretary Baker's weekly talks is that they are interesting.

A large number of people in Barre who are able to buy some Liberty bonds have not yet come to a full realization that their government needs their co-operation. In other words, they are hanging back in the matter of subscribing to the loan. Now it is imperatively necessary that each and every person who is able to buy one or more bonds should do so and do so at once. The time limit set by the government for the completion of the subscription is Saturday, Oct. 27, leaving but nine more business days in which the amount required of Barre can be raised. Barre subscribed its full allotment of the first loan, and did more. Shall Barre give up the honor then secured by failing to come up to requirements at the present time? The Times earnestly hopes that every man, woman and child who is able to aid the government, if no more than by the purchase of a single $30 bond, will come forward voluntarily in the next nine days.

OUR FIRST NAVAL MISFORTUNE.
The partial disabling of a torpedo boat destroyer of the United States navy by a German submarine only calls attention to the fact that the warships of this country have been doing effective work

Don't overload your boy with books—don't worry if he is "slow" over his studies. Many of the brightest men were poor scholars.

Samuel Johnson, one of the greatest scholars of the 18th century seemed very stupid while a boy at school.

in patrolling European waters, protecting food ships, conveying transports, helping to blockade the ports of Germany and keeping the lanes of traffic clear for nearly six months without incurring any great damage. The crippling of this warship, as reported by Vice Admiral Sims, is the first real blow that has been struck home; and even in this instance the ship was not lost and only one man was killed. Nevertheless the people of the United States must use this occurrence to prepare themselves for the shocks of greater force which are sure to come. The United States cannot be in this war actively without feeling the harsh hand of war. The United States navy cannot always remain immune; nor can the American armies continue without their casualty lists and perhaps without their defeats. Therefore, the mishap which befell this torpedo boat destroyer may serve as a warning to all of us of the worst things which we must bear before the Prussian peril is laid low. There must surely be depressing times before the glory of a satisfactory peace is unfolded to our vision.

SOUTH BARRE

The grange fair opened Wednesday evening, and between 200 and 300 door tickets were sold. The program consisted of the following: Piano duet, Misses Carr and Worcester; vocal solo, Harold Adams; a farce, "Aunt Jerusha's Quilting Party," with a cast of 16 characters; a well received; character song, Messrs. Dudley and Adams. The various booths were tastefully decorated. There was the usual amount of fancywork and a handsome quilt and sofa pillow were disposed of in a novel manner. The apron booth was well supplied with fancy and work aprons. The candy, popcorn and ice cream booth did a rushing business. In place of the usual fishpond, a Chinese laundry supplied the children with surprise packages. The domestic booth served fancy refreshments, besides having on sale food and canned goods. The vegetable booth had a fine array of eatables. This evening, the closing night of the fair, a musical and literary program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and readings, has been planned.

Clarence Tucker Hurt by Shot from Sling—Alton Farr Traps Bear.

Clarence Tucker, a senior in the high school and son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tucker, was seriously hurt Wednesday morning before school, being hit under the eye with a kernel of corn thrown from a rubber sling. A hemorrhage was caused, and at latest reports there is so much blood collected back of his eye that it cannot be decided whether the sight is impaired or not. He was carried at noon to consult Dr. Newcomb in Montpelier, accompanied by his mother and carried in W. W. Tucker's car. At present Clarence is in Heaton hospital and is not suffering great pain, though unable to see.

Alton E. Farr, when attending to his traps Sunday, found he had caught a young black bear, which was carried to Montpelier Tuesday.

The Home circle dinner was attended by nearly 100 and over $10 was realized. Mrs. Annette Savage of Montpelier is a guest of her sister, Mrs. C. H. Newcomb.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Persons of Northfield Falls are visiting relatives in town.

Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Remole are attending the state Sunday school meeting in Middlebury.

The date of the annual chicken-pie supper at the Congregational church has been set for Wednesday evening, Nov. 14.

'61 to '17.

Yes, you are going, God only knows where.
It matters not much, 'tis true;
You are going, we know, not for pomp or show.
There's a duty for you to do.
Good-bye, my lad—it is breaking my heart—

And you are my only son;
You are going to-day to the far away—
But I did it in '61.
God bless you and keep you wherever you go;
I'd not have you here remain;
Just follow the flag, with never a lag,
And keep it from soil or stain.
Good-bye, my lad—it is breaking my heart—
But go—take God and your gun,
And gloriously fight for justice and right—
I did it in '61.

ON DEFENSELESS BOAT

German Submarine Attacked the Seamen in It.

London, Oct. 18.—James Tringer of Roanoke, Va., according to a dispatch to the Daily Chronicle from a British port, was killed by shrapnel fired by a German submarine upon the open boats of a torpedoed British steamer, on which the American was employed. Another member of the crew in Tringer's boat, a fireman, was wounded by a shell from the submarine and died as he was being placed aboard a rescuing ship.

There were 12 Americans among the 49 survivors landed at a British port. Byron Wood, one of the American survivors, said that eight survivors had been taken to a hospital suffering from serious wounds.

"We were attacked at 6 o'clock Sunday morning by two German submarines," said Wood. "We tried to escape by zig-zagging, but it was no use. They got our range and soon shells were bursting all over the deck."

"We succeeded in launching two boats on the starboard side, those on the port side having been shot away. When the nearest submarine was only a quarter of a mile away she sent six shrapnel shells at us, only one of which took effect. The approach of the rescuing ship caused the submarines to dive."

Consular dispatches received by the state department Tuesday reported that two men were killed and seven others wounded when small boats from a British steamer were shelled by one of two U-boats which had attacked it. One of the men killed was James D. Tringer of Roanoke, while Frank Donahue, a horseman, of Philadelphia, was wounded. The other Americans, the dispatches added, were rescued.

GERMANS FEAR REPRISALS.

Great Britain's Decision to Retaliate Disheartening to Kaiser's Subjects.

Zurich, Oct. 18.—That Great Britain's decision to bomb German cities and towns in reprisal for the air raids on London and other English cities and towns is having a disheartening effect in southern Germany is indicated by the Muenchener Post, which says that air attacks on open towns have proved quite apart from moral estimates, that this mode of warfare will be the means of stiffening, rather than breaking, the determination of the people. The newspaper says this applies to all the belligerents and that it would be a matter for rejoicing if all them would agree "no longer to make this fearful world catastrophe still more horrible through the slaughter of defenseless persons."
